PRISONERS USED IN CUTTING THE WEEDS

Las Cruces Streets Are Being Deprived of Their Heavy Summer Growth of Vegetation.

Las Cruces, N. M., July 25.—Several of the principal streets of Las Cruces have had the weeds removed from them by a squad from the city jail. Those who will not or cannot pay their fines are made to work on the streets, and the weed cutting campaign has been an active one.

William G. Essen and Miss Florence Dessauer were united in marriage on the evening of July 23, by Rev. Thomas Mitchell. Mrs. Essen is the daughter of the late William Dessauer, a pioneer of the Mesquite valley. Mr. Essen has charge of the Las Cruces Tinning and Plumbing company. They will make their home here.

Herbert Johnson died yesterday morning at the home of his mother, on the Alameda. He was a health seeker. His father, who is a railroad man and stays in North Dakota, arrived the day before his son's death. The funeral will be held this afternoon. The deceased, with his mother, brother and sister, came here about five years ago.

Mrs. John Lemon, of El Paso, was a caller among friends here yesterday. Merle Irwin returned to his home near Rincon yesterday, after a brief visit with friends here.

W. J. Jones, of El Paso, arrived here yesterday to spend a few days. The local militia now at the encampment at Las Vegas will return home Sunday morning.

Young Harris, who has been at Palomas Springs, taking the baths for rheumatism, arrived here this morning. Mrs. Cracea Sero and daughter, Miss Janita, went to El Paso this morning. J. Ferguson came here yesterday from Magdalena to look after his ranch west of Las Cruces four miles, and left this morning for El Paso, where he is employed.

Mrs. I. R. Holt and twins, Alfred and Dorothy, went to Mesilla Park today to visit Mrs. Arthur Stockbridge and Mrs. Bert Goddard.

Miss Edna Holt is visiting at the home of W. P. Goddard, near Jackson, N. M. She will remain until about September 1.

The city of Las Cruces is installing a 75 foot siphon culvert on Las Cruces avenue, near the depot, under the direction of superintendent of town affairs Anderson.

W. H. B. Llewellyn returned this morning from a brief visit at his ranch home near Selden.

PRISON REFORM BILL PROPOSED

presented to the legislature, declared representative Reedy, chairman of the house committee on corrections. A prison reform bill is also being prepared in the senate, but its provisions are not yet definite. The bill has been reported to the committee on corrections, and it is expected that it will be passed by the legislature. The bill is designed to improve the management of the prison system and to provide for the reformation of prisoners. It includes provisions for the appointment of a board of prison commissioners, for the improvement of the prison buildings, for the provision of better food and clothing for the prisoners, and for the provision of better medical care for the prisoners. It also includes provisions for the provision of better education and training for the prisoners, and for the provision of better recreation for the prisoners. The bill is expected to be passed by the legislature in the near future.

Would Amend Liquor Law.

"If the governor gives me a chance, I will submit an amendment to my bill," said representative Allison, author of the famous Allison liquor law, during a session of the legislature today. The amendment would provide that wholesale dealers in liquor in this state shall be permitted to ship intoxicating liquor to retail dealers in dry territory for medicinal purposes. He pointed out that his purpose for amending the law is that he wants to give the wholesale dealers in Texas the same advantage that any wholesale dealer from another state has in making such shipments; he did not want to hurt the wholesale drug business in Texas. He also declared that if the opportunity is presented, he will also introduce an act to put in effect in Texas the Webb bill, which would have the effect of preventing interstate shipments of liquor into dry territory. He was not sure that the submission by the governor of the bill of 230 closing law would have the effect of opening the liquor question.

Unusual Feat in Architecture

A one-story house converted into a two-story house by Pringle & Crawford. The house was converted during the time of construction. This job was said to be a difficult one, but Pringle & Crawford raised the roof, added another story, saved the occupants $50 a month in rent and $500 on the job. Those who are interested are asked to go out and inspect this house at 434 Boulevard, phone 484.—Advertisement.

BIG APARTMENT HOUSE AND SEVEN HOMES PLANNED FOR MESA GARDEN

Scene of McGinty Club Festivities Is to Be Made Center of New Residential Section of the City; Company Is Being Formed and Plans Are Being Prepared For a $175,000 Investment.

Mesa Garden hill, for many years one of the most commanding sites in the city of El Paso, because of its splendid view of the city below and the fact that the McGinty club held its celebrations there is to be improved at once with an apartment house to cost $139,000 and seven bungalows to cost $25,000. One of the most beautiful apartment houses in the west will be erected thereon by a company which is being organized and which will probably be headed by Charles N. Bassett as president.

Plans for the building have been prepared by J. R. Pritz, of the Pisk-Ramsey Realty company, who will have charge of the construction and steam heated throughout, will have a circulating hot water system and electric elevators.

Lockout Towers.

Probably the most novel feature of the whole building will be three look-out towers which are to be arranged as a roof garden. They will be six stories higher than the top of the Willis building, by reason of the height of Mesa Garden above Mills street and from them a view of the entire city and valley in every direction can be obtained. At night these will stand out as watch towers for residents in the lower valleys, as they will be studded with electric lights and will be visible for probably 50 miles down the valley and also a good distance up into New Mexico.

Bungalows Lower Down.

In connection with the apartment house, seven bungalows will be built lower down the hill and surrounding with a private street between completely enclosing the main building. This street will be a continuation of Corto street and will enter from West Boulevard.

The whole scheme is unique and is different from anything heretofore attempted in El Paso. It is the largest project of its kind since the erection of the Paso del Norte hotel, and is second only in importance to that structure.

Millions in Apartment Houses.

This is not the only apartment house to be erected in El Paso during the fall

There will be more than $1,000,000 invested in this kind of buildings, in the city within the next few months. It is said, H. Thorman & Co., local architects are drawing plans for apartment houses in which this amount will be invested. The names of those who intend to erect these houses are to be erected there in the near future, and hereafter no house will be built there costing less than $5000.

Place $30000 Restriction.

The Government has company directors met Thursday afternoon and decided to make Richmond Terrace one of the most attractive residence sections in the city. Several houses are to be erected there in the near future, and hereafter no house will be built there costing less than $3000.

Sells Residence.

C. T. Nagles has sold to H. B. Savells the five room brick residence at 149 Newman street, between Margoffin and Myrtle avenues, for $4,000. Bishop and Greel made the sale.

sey to Anchor. The prison authorities at that time agreed to a stipulation that should the vendor fail to construct a railroad they should forfeit the $15,000. The vendors failed to build the road and readily agreed to forfeit the money. The state then promptly built the road at a cost of $14,000. The committee estimates that the prison system lost $59,500 through the transaction.

Inefficient Service.

The minority report by representative Humphrey covers fourteen typewritten pages, and in the outset he says: "So far as the record discloses, there has been no dishonesty practiced in the creation of the deficit. There has been serious mismanagement and the system reeks with inefficient service, but there is no evidence of moral delinquency upon the part of those charged with the control of prison affairs."

Mr. Humphrey recommends the abandonment of the Rusk and Huntsville prisons; consolidation of the system at or near the city of Houston or some other centrally located point; that all prisoners be worked on farms owned by the state; the controller, attorney general and state treasurer who shall appoint a general superintendent to receive a salary of not less than $8000 a year; repeal of the convict per diem article, sale of the state railroad, if a buyer can be found, if not abandon it; that the prison funds
